G. W. U.

To One whose heart is filled with a love for G. W.; Whose hand is lifted in the school's behalf;
Whose thoughts ever
include our institution—

To Such a one—

To Jessie Fant Evans (Mrs. Joshua Evans, Jr.)

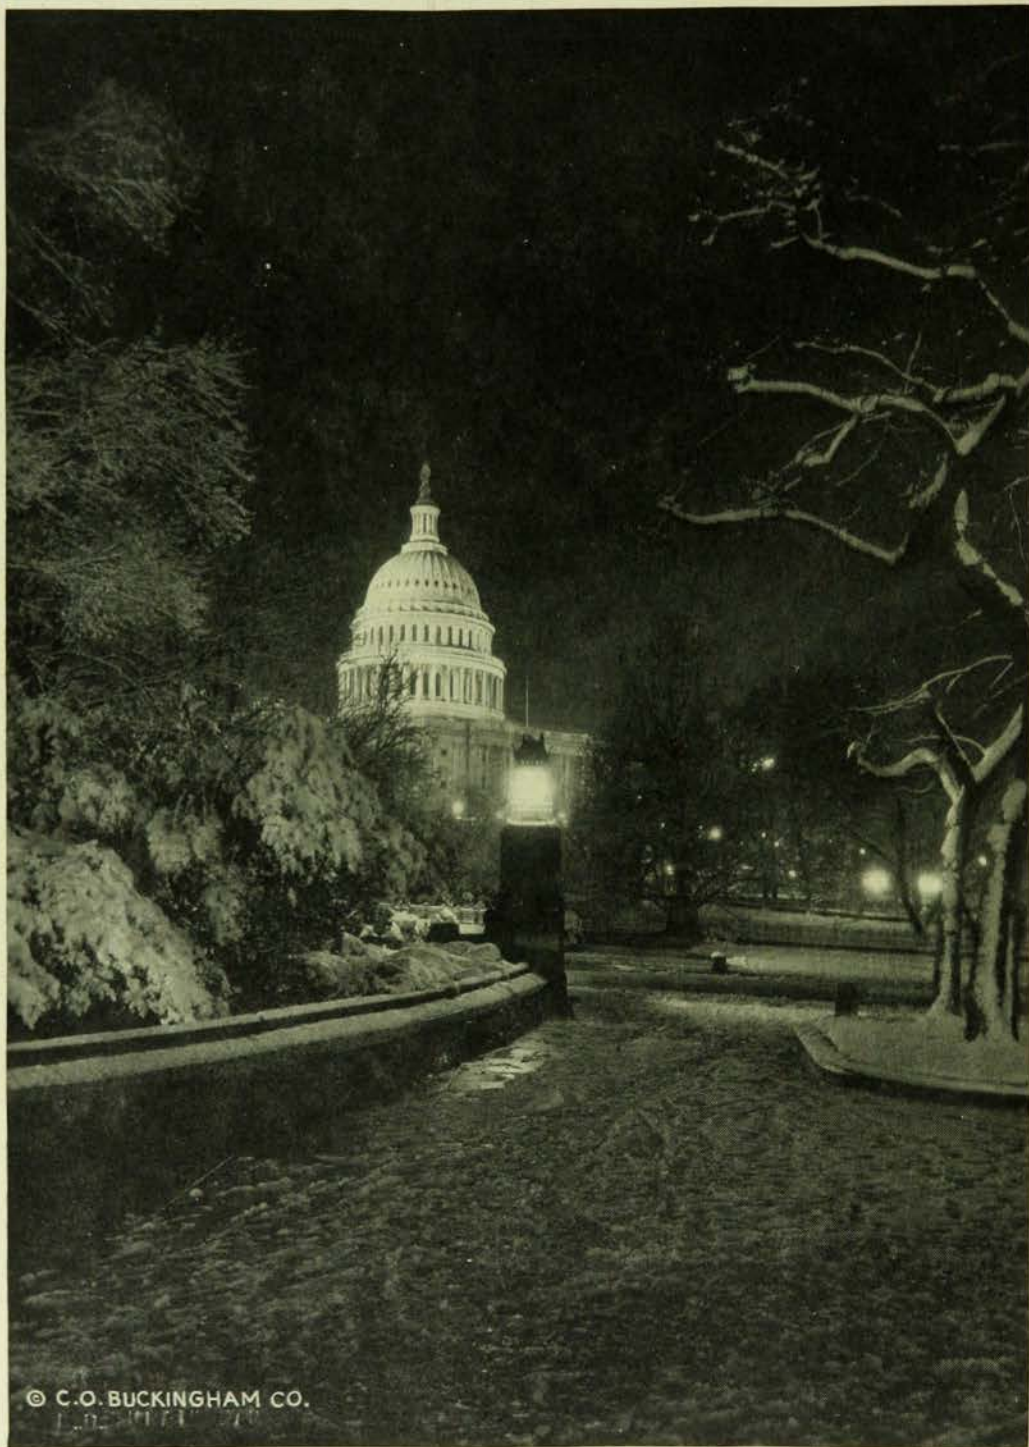

This 1926 CHERRY TREE is dedicated.

ATHLETICS

UNDER the tutelage of H. W. Crum, athletics in George Washington have entered upon a new and greater era of success. Since his appointment as Director of Athletics of the University, Coach Crum has done much to bring about the recognition of George Washington University in the leading athletic circle of the East, one of the contributing factors being the enviable record established by the football team during the past season. Prospects for next year's team are brighter than ever before and with the addition to the schedule of such teams as Penn State, William and Mary and Bucknell, much interest is being shown in the development of an even stronger team.

No less successful from the standpoint of better schedules and creditable performance have been the Men's and Girls' Basket-Ball teams. Although not victorious in a majority of their games, the Buff and Blue courtmen met and defeated such teams as West Virginia U., Richmond U., Duke U., and William and

H. WATSON CRUM
Director of Athletics

Mary, while the girls' team enjoyed a very successful season. As in past years, the Men's and Girls' Rifle teams have shown the way to the sharpshooters of the entire country and have time and again turned in scores better than their opponents, some of the best teams throughout the nation.

Attention must be given to the progress made in the Department of Physical Education for Women since the installation of Miss Virginia Hopkins as head of the Department and coach of women athletic teams. Regular gym classes are being held daily under her supervision and have been well attended throughout the year, much interest being shown by the girls who have been required to take this training.

Prospects seem bright for another successful track season and point toward the development of a team which will hold their own.

As never before in the history of the University, the Alumni of the school are showing an interest in athletics and demanding winning teams. Should this interest become better reflected by the student body, indication would point more than ever toward unlimited success in athletics. We are waiting expectantly for the time when athletics in George Washington will be given better support and backing by the students, and that time will bring about the advancement of the University as one of the leaders in the Athletic Circle in which we move.

H. W. CRUM
Coach

STARTING the season with only one letter man from last year's varsity, Coach Crum succeeded in turning out one of the strongest teams which has ever represented the University, and one which emerged victorious in most of its games. Despite the handicap of having no nucleus about which to build his team, Crum succeeded in whipping a team into shape which registered six victories and two defeats in ten starts. Although Captain Hottel, considered to be one of the best line-men in the District, was lost to the team through ineligibility, the line proved itself to be a veritable stone wall, keeping its goal line intact to all but three of the team's foes. The backfield, although light, was very fast as is shown by the fact that they amassed a total of 224 points during the season. The most consistent ground gainers were Coleman and Wilton, the latter having enjoyed the enviable position of leading point scorer in the District. In Captain-elect Sapp the team had a great forward passer, while Mock punted creditably throughout the entire season.

Blue Ridge was the victim of the opening encounter, the Buff and Blue warriors emerging on the long end of a 45-0 count. This game gave Coach Crum the opportunity to observe the strength of his men individually and to try out most of his new material. So well did the team profit by this that the following game they downed Juniata, a team which defeated G. W. the year before 6-0, with a score of 32-0. Bucknell was the next team to be met, and the game, played in Lewisburg, Pa., resulted in a 20-0 defeat for the Hatchetites. In justice to the team, however, it must be said that the game was played under weather conditions which rendered the best playing of the squad impossible. Mt. St. Mary's, the team which threw such a scare into Georgetown with their puzzling aerial attack, was met in Central Stadium the following Saturday, and was held to a single field goal while Wilton scored the only touchdown of the game, giving his team a 7-3 victory. The team next journeyed to Ursinus and were held to a 0-0 tie in game played in a sea of mud. Costly fumbles spoiled G. W.'s only chances of victory while the Ursinus backfield showed uncanny ability to hold the slippery ball.

Washington College was met and defeated in Central Stadium by a 27-0 score in a game which showed to the best advantage the sweeping running attack of the G. W. backs. Combining long forward passes with sweeping end runs, the Buff and Blue backfield completely defeated their heavier opponents by a 27-0 score. Washington College previously had held the strong U. of Md. team 13-0 and this defeat came as a surprise to many of its followers. This game showed the team at the height of its perfection, and it showed a front that could not be dented but for small gains.

JUNIATA GAME

Temple University, accompanied by a 40-piece band came to Washington primed for victory, but was fought to a standstill, the game resulting in a 0-0 tie. Rain and mud prevented the Hatchetites from using their strongest offensive weapon, a clever passing attack, and continued plugging at the heavy Temple U. line met with no success.

Journeying to Ashland, Va., to do battle with Randolph-Macon, the team ran rough-shod over their opponents, smothering them under a 54-6 score. R.-M.'s only touchdown was practically a gift, coming late in the last quarter when a long pass fell into the arms of a surprised receiver surrounded by defensive backs behind the G. W. goal line. The next game was played with Buffalo University, a team which was barely defeated by G. W. the year previous by a 6-0 score, and the up-staters were buried under an avalanche of touchdowns, losing by a 59-0 score. The Buff and Blue broke into the scoring column within a minute after the opening whistle, when Groton recovered the initial kickoff on the opponent's 10-yard line, from where it was immediately pushed over for the first touchdown. In this game Sapp injured his foot so badly that he was unable to practice once during the week preceding the Catholic University game.

The Turkey-Day battle with C. U. resulted in an unexpected reverse. The team, weakened by injuries in the backfield, and lacking the dash which characterized their two previous starts was forced to take the short end of a 20-0 score. This came as a disappointment to the host of G. W. supporters who thronged to Brookland Stadium to witness the game, but the team was unable to defend its goal from the long passes hurled by Foley to Mayer and Connors. All of the touchdowns were scored in this manner, while the Buff and Blue backfield, weakened by the loss of Coleman, Sapp and Crum, was unable to employ its brilliant running attack to the best advantage.

G. W. U.

COLEMAN

"Coley" in Coach Crum's words was "the best all-round backfield man on the squad." He called the plays and carried the ball for many of the season's 224 points.

Here was one of the only two men who had previously tutored under Coach Crum. His aggression and consistency made him the team's most valuable linesman.

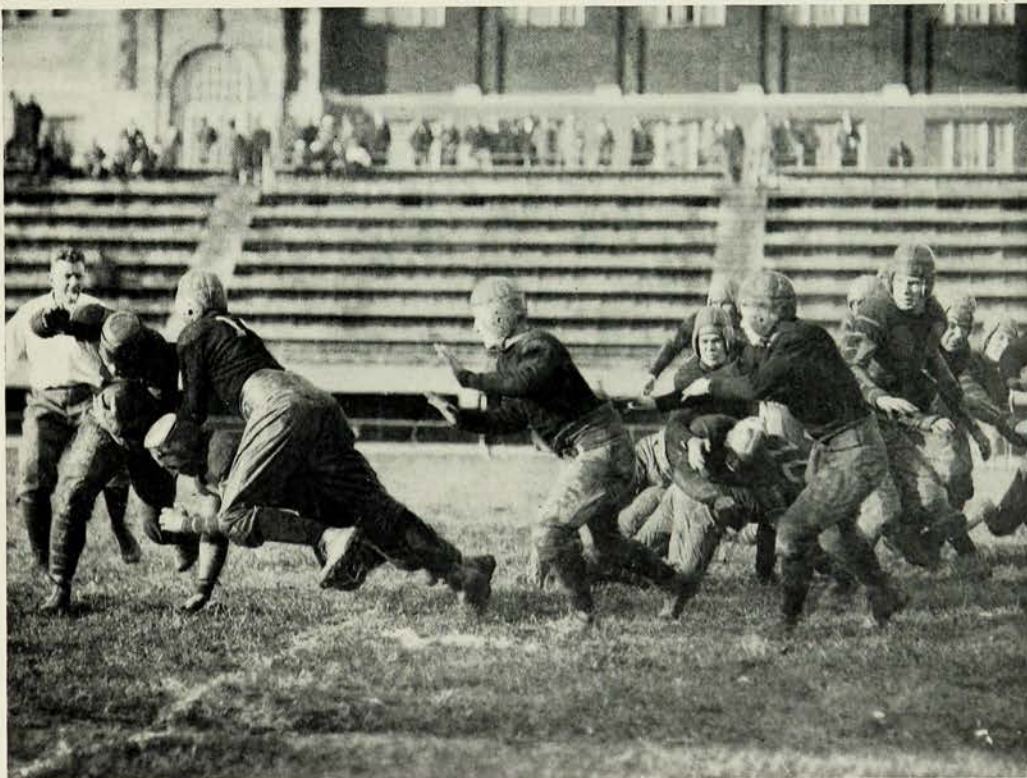

GOLDMAN
Guard

G. W. U.

Athey at guard, Slaughter at tackle, and Kendall at center, played brilliantly in the line during the entire season, Kendall never being relieved by a substitute after the first game. In the backfield, Wilton, Coleman and Sapp were consistent ground gainers. Prospects for next year's eleven are particularly bright and Coach Crum expects to have practically all of this year's team and several new men on hand for the opening practice of the season.

As a whole, the past season was the most successful in recent years, despite the loss of the C. U. game. Coaches Crum and Tracy deserve special commendation for their efforts which resulted in the development of a strong team.

The Season

MUCH credit is due Coach Lemon for his efforts in developing a team which performed creditably throughout the season. As in the past football season, the team started practice with the services of only two of last year's letter men, necessitating the formation of a new five before the opening game with Princeton University. The team was confronted with the most difficult schedule in the basket-ball history of the University, and although handicapped by never having worked together until this year, displayed a brand of court work which bespeaks great success for next season.

Victories over West Virginia University, Duke University, and the University of Richmond were the high lights of the season, while the team also played good ball against such teams as the University of Pittsburgh, Dickinson, Lafayette, and Geneva.

In Captain Wallace the Buff and Blue boasted one of the fastest men in this section, and one of the leading basketeers as is shown by the fact that he made sixty field goals in fourteen games during the season. Equally as consistent as his teammate in locating the basket was Wheeler, who played at both center and guard positions. This rangy lad played a clever floor game and passed with remarkable accuracy besides being a dependable shot. Kendall, the Buff and Blue star center and guard, was second only to Wallace as the team's most valuable man. His accuracy and speed contributed greatly to the success of the season. Banton, at guard, and Allshouse, at forward, performed creditably while Brown and Davis, the only veterans from last year's team to report at the call for candidates, furnished staunch support whenever injected into the fray and invariably delivered points when called upon.

The team met with a setback in their initial encounter when they met Princeton University. Trailing at half time ten to seven the team, lacking reserve material, was worn down in the second half by the Tiger five, who were in superior condition as a result of two previous games. Profiting by this defeat, the team opened the home season by trouncing Johns Hopkins University and the University of Richmond on successive nights by scores of 37 to 27 and 28 to 23, respectively. In the latter contest Captain Wallace paved the way to victory with a deluge of baskets from far in the back court, while his teammates assisted him with needed points and fast floor work.

Coming closely upon the heels of these successes was a disappointing setback at the hands of the strong Lafayette five; the team being forced to accept the short end of a 24-22 count.

The trip through West Virginia and Pennsylvania was disappointing from the standpoint of games won, but the team, facing West Virginia Wesleyan, West Virginia University, University of Pittsburgh, and Geneva, on successive nights, succumbed in each of these contests only after a bitter struggle. Following this trip, losses were sustained at the hands of the strong Dickinson, and Catholic University quintets, but the team soon again broke into the winning column by defeating West Virginia University, 39 to 16. The Mountaineers came to Washington expecting a repetition of their victory at Morgantown but were sent away after taking one of the worst trouncings a Mountaineer team has received in years.

The West Virginia game marked the return to winning form and victories over Duke University and William and Mary College were registered in rapid succession. This form was only once marred during the remainder of the season by a close defeat at the hands of the Catholic University five in the Brookland Gymnasium.

Had the team played with the dash and vim in the early season that they displayed at its close, due to the fact that each man worked more to advantage with his teammates, the number of victories would undoubtedly have been increased. However, considering the difficult schedule attempted, the season as a whole was very satisfactory.

THE SEASON

Interest in Track, and especially in long-distance running, at George Washington, has been greatly stimulated this season due to the rapid development of a splendid cross-country team composed of Captain Hurd Willett, Shipley, Domigan, Anderson, Bixby, and Gallagher. The excellent showing of this team has been due to the untiring efforts of Captain Willett and his teammate, Walton Shipley.

The first two meets were won by George Washington and the last resulted in a tie score, Willett and Shipley taking first and second, respectively, in the Meets with the University of Maryland and William and Mary College, and second and third, respectively, in the Meet with the Naval Academy.

In the South Atlantic Cross-Country Championships Captain Willett and Shipley, the only two George Washington entries, won second and third places, respectively. The first two Aloysius Club open five-mile modified marathon runs held in Washington were won by Horace Domigan, the only George Washington entry. In the third of these runs Captain Willett, Domigan and Shipley took first place, winning in a dead heat, while the fourth run was won by Captain Willett.

MANAGER MARTIN

The Varsity Track Team, led by Captain John Loehler, a star performer in the hurdles and field events, and under the direction of Coach Thomas F. Probey, are undergoing intensive training in preparation for the Interclass Track and Field Meet and a series of dual meets which make up the season's activities. The distance events will be taken care of by the cross-country team, all of whom are members of the Varsity Track Team. Practically all of last year's sprint and weight men have been graduated. However, Coach Probey, with Captain Loehler and Aaronson as a nucleus, feels confident that a well-balanced team will be developed with the new men who are now in training. Loehler is a consistent performer in the weights and hurdles and Aaronson in the sprints and the pole vault.

DOMIGAN

Dual meets have been definitely arranged with Catholic University and Gallaudet College and negotiations are under way with other institutions for at least two more. With the Interclass Meet and four dual meets the Track Team faces a busy season. For the first time in ten years, however, the Buff and Blue colors will not be seen at the Penn Relays.

Third Annual Interclass Track and Field Meet

(Held under auspices of the G. W. Club)

The Sophomore Class won the Third Annual Inter-Class Track and Field Meet, held April 17, 1926, with a score of 73 points, which victory gives them a year's possession of the coveted Louis A. Fischer Memorial Trophy, which has been held by the Seniors for the past two years. The Freshman Class won second honors with 55 points; Graduate School third with 31 points; Junior Class fourth with 23 points; and Senior Class fifth with 14 points.

The Thomas F. Probey Individual Point Trophy (Men) was won by E. Aaronson, of the Graduate School, with 20 points, while the Women's G. W. Club Individual Point Trophy (Women) went to Leah Cate, Sophomore, with 31 points. The latter broke the Inter-Class Meet records in the 50 and 70-yard dashes.

John Loehler, Captain of Track, not competing for points, broke his former Inter-Class Meet records in the Discus Throw and Shot Put.

G. R. Kieferle, Sophomore, won the second place open event G. W. Club Point Medal with 16 points; H. Domigan, Senior, third, with 9 points; and H. P. Wardwell, Sophomore, fourth, with 7 points. H. Baggett, Junior, and K. I. Popham, Freshman, tied for first place medal in the closed events with 10 points each; E. Higgins, Freshman, second, with $8\frac{1}{2}$ points; and D. Warner, Freshman, third, with $6\frac{1}{2}$ points.

The Season

WALTER R. STOKES
Coach

The Varsity Rifle Team this year has developed into a team of real championship calibre.

When school opened last fall it was found that only three of last year's letter men were back, though another came back in February. But several of the second team men showed promise of being real varsity material and the team was further strengthened by the addition of several new men from the high schools and elsewhere.

Coach Stokes called for candidates to report at the range two weeks before Thanksgiving and as he had issued a general call about 75 men reported to try for the team. This squad was divided and placed under the instruction of the various experienced men. They gave each man as much individual attention as possible and carefully weeded out those who showed no ability. This weeding out process cut the squad to about 45 men. Those remaining were required to shoot a certain number of scores each week and show the results to the manager who kept track of each man's work.

Men dropped out now and then and when the team squad was picked there were only about 15 men trying for the team, but these 15 men were real shooters.

The team squad was then composed of Thaddeus A. Riley, Captain; Baxter Smith, Manager; John A. Plugge, Assistant Manager; F. N. Strawbridge, Hugh E. Riley, John A. Schricker, Frank T. Parsons, Jr., all from last year's team squad, and R. G. Radue, last year's manager at Central High School; Walter Slavik, George Martin, George B. Campbell, Robert Leighey, Charles Banks. Walter Stokes, team Coach, hoped to turn this squad into a rifle team which would add to the University's already illustrious name in the rifle shooting game. The team developed slowly but hit its stride in the Middle States League Matches and is confident that it will live up to if not better the records of the great teams representing George Washington in other years.

The Oxford Debate

The Second International Debate held in the Capital of the United States was won by George Washington University, represented by Oscar Zabel, Vivian Simpson, and V. R. Trimble. Oxford University of England was most ably represented by her foremost champions of debate, R. H. Bernap, J. H. S. Wedderburn and H. V. Lloyd-Jones, all presidents of the Oxford Union.

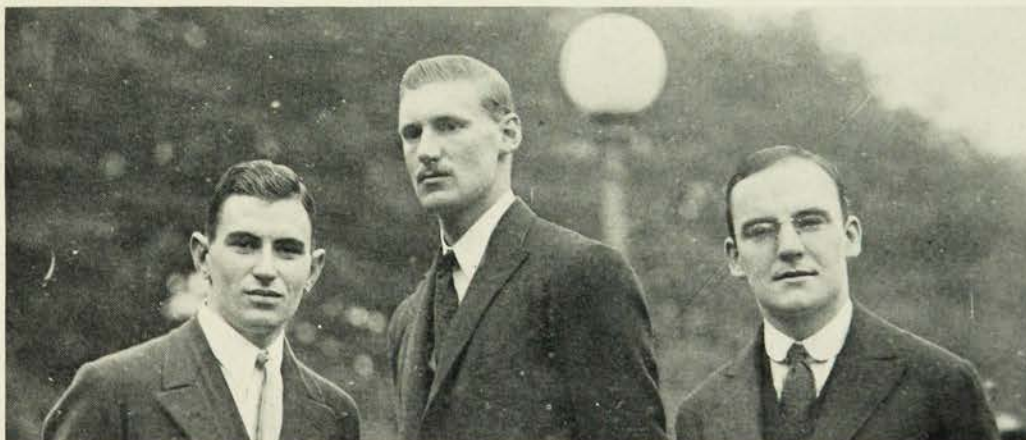

The debate, held on November 2, 1925, in the University Gymnasium, was on the resolution:

"That the existing regime in Russia should be recognized."

George Washington upheld the negative, winning by 6 votes. The audience acting as judge, cast 452 ballots for George Washington against 446 for Oxford, the latter contending for the recognition of Russia.

Every foreign legation, many public personages of note and press representatives were among the audience. President William Mather Lewis acted as chairman.

The Oxford manner of debate was general, each member covering the entire field of the subject, either strengthening his colleagues' arguments or constructing new ones. The arguments of the George Washington trio were divided into three parts, each member of the team maintaining a particular section, viz: Constructive reasoning; reinforcement of the preceding statements; maintaining the arguments already established.

ERMYNTRUDE VAIDEN
Manager

With six of last year's letter girls back, and more good new material than basket-ball has known in years, the girls have had a most successful season. Under the tutoring of our new Coach, Miss Hopkins, and the able managership of Ermyntrode Vaiden, but one game has been lost.

Besides the scoring of Alice Ewers, Captain, and Grace Young, Cecyle Taylor has shown up well in the forward field. Although Louise Omwake's loss was felt, Jean Jackson played an excellent game at center, supported by the whirlwind playing of Jimmy Cate, and Betty Armentrout of last year's squad. The center was further strengthened by the addition of Julia Denning, a freshman. Opponents have found last year's guard, Elizabeth Hastings, and the stellar playing of two new guards, Winifred Faunce and Louise Braswell, hard to beat.

The season was voted a huge success, and the excellent playing of the girls deserves high commendation.

SOPHIA WALDMAN
Captain

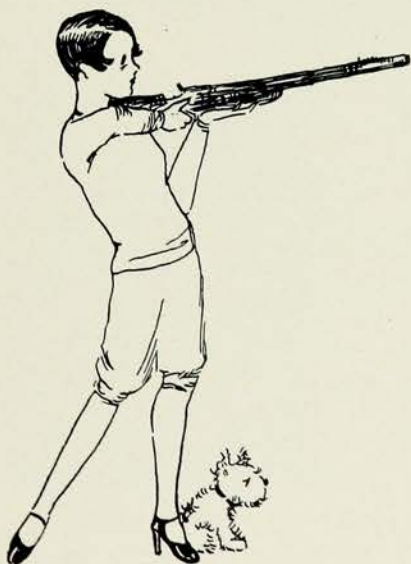

Each year rifle becomes more popular among the women of the University. Sixty-six girls have been taking advantage of the fine facilities at George Washington for shooting, besides the Varsity team of twelve members. Five girls, Mae Huntzberger, Edna Kilpatrick, Katharine Shoemaker, Ermytrude Vaiden and Sophia Waldman, members of last year's championship team, formed the nucleus for this year's squad.

Five splendid shots of high school fame have joined the Varsity since the beginning of the season, Betsy Fries, Elizabeth Garber, Helen Prentiss, Helen Taylor and Ethel Theis; while one girl, who has learned to shoot at the University, has won a place for herself on the team, Patty Ann Jamieson.

Ermytrude Vaiden distinguished herself by totaling the most points during the season, winning the N. R. A. medal, awarded to the girl with the highest aggregate score.

The match of most importance in the early part of the season was the shoulder-to-shoulder competition with the Drexel Institute in Philadelphia, Saturday, February 13. George Washington won with a score of 497 to 489.

With ten girls of varsity experience back next year, the Buff and Blue bids fair to have another championship rifle team. Coach Walter R. Stokes has stood behind the team shooting this year and most of the success is due to his matchless and untiring efforts.

A wealth of new material among the Freshmen girls this year gave Hockey more prominence among girls' sports than it has ever had before. Of all the sports for girls, Hockey claimed the largest number of participants.

Interclass games aroused much interest during the first part of the season. A silver cup was given to the victorious Freshman team by the Pan-Hellenic Association. Later in the season practice games were played with Holton Arms and Marjorie Webster Schools.

This is the first year that Hockey has received recognition as a minor sport, and the girls who made the Varsity squad were presented by the University with minor G. W.'s. The Hour Glass Honor Society awarded silver hockey balls to the members of the squad in recognition of their hard work and unfailing spirit.

A great deal of credit for the increasing successful development of this sport goes to the perseverance and capability of Miss Hopkins, the Coach, to Alice Haines, the very efficient Captain, and to Jeanne Gravatte, who managed the team with ability.

The girls receiving the Hour Glass awards were: Betty Brandenburg, Abbie Burke, Leah Cate, Elizabeth De Kay, Louise Du Bose, Alice Graham, Jeanne Gravatte, Alice Haines, Captain, Margaret Knapp, Mary K. Lutz, Elizabeth Miles, Helen Miller, Lou Omwake and Vivian Robb.

THE SEASON

Girls' Swimming, under the coaching of Miss Virginia Hopkins, made great progress during the spring. The Y. W. C. A. pool was used four periods a week at such times that the majority of those interested could attend. In the beginners' classes, all the strokes and diving were taught, while in the advanced classes particular attention was paid to form and speed. The girls were instructed in the Red Cross Life Savings holds, breaks and tows used in saving life.

Races were held every week to test the ability and progress and at the end of the season, a combined Interclass Meet and Exhibition aroused spirited competition among members of the team.

The Social Calendar

now ye that the year 1925-26 started off with a bang and everyone, especially Dottie, effervescing with enthusiasm collected during a three months' vacation.

No one could possibly think of studies so early in the year and as one must do something with time, the Fraternities obliged with their usual big parties, the main object being to arrange for as many as possible to coincide, to the joy of the Co-eds, who had been waiting all summer (?) to step out. Virginia May was telling the Frosh all about it: "And I just had to turn down four dates because they all came on the same night," etc., you know the line.

Gradually the noble student body began to realize that it was expected to attend classes. Virginia Cooper had the jump on the rest, however, by knowing that all first-class and safe love affairs start in the library. Mason would never permit anything else.

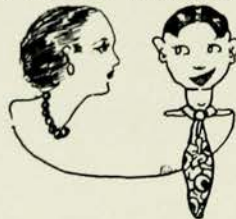

The first real relaxation was the "Third Annual Roll Call" held on the Campus on October 12. Addresses relative to a "bigger and better" George Washington were made by President William Mather Lewis, Colonel William Mitchell, and Gilbert L. Hall, President of the George Washington University Alumni Association.

"Roll Call" enthusiasm of the Students culminated in a mad Snake Dance which was formed in front of Lisner Hall. The howling mob wended its way down town to "Eff" Street, much to the dismay of innocent pedestrians, through "Peacock Alley," to the dismay of the hotel guests and diners; through the "White House Grounds" to the dismay of President Coolidge; and into the hands of the police, to the dismay of the Students. After the inglorious end Zuberano's feet, the rest being so submerged as to be indistinguishable in the melee.

After this, the Freshman Girls and their "Big Sisters" returned to the gym, where a party was being given to mark the end of the "Big Sister" movement. This year inaugurated the strange movement, the plan providing for an upper-class girl to be the big sister of one Freshman entering the University. No Fraternity (they insist on this word) girls wear their pins during the first two weeks of school, and it was intended to promote friendship among the girls, regardless of whether there were little pin holes on the left side of the dress or not. Some strange interchanging of little sisters occurred but we are broad-minded, and won't mention the subject. Anyway a Freshman girl is only a Freshman, unless she is a Sigma Kappa pledge—then she is a victim. The Frosh get used to the college before the college returns the compliment.

Lyon

of the activities of a few unfortunate ones, the rest, undaunted, continued their march back to College. "Guy Hottel's" Ford Coupe broke the campus record for capacity when it carried fourteen of G. W.'s more indolent students to the starting place. We recognized "Betty Brandenburg's" hat, Hattie Wise's coat, and Henry

On November 16th, over five hundred people attended the Y. W. C. A. County Fair held in the gym. If you will pardon the reminder of mercenary matters, we think the young women surely deserve credit for the thorough manner in which they separated the students from their wealth. "Elsie T." arranged such ample space for the couples to dance.

Gamma Beta Pi no doubt expects some publicity for pulling down the Women's Interfraternity Basket-ball Cup for the second successive year, and there's no time like the present for giving it to them. (They'll take it anyway.)

Another part of the greater George Washington was dedicated on November 14th in our beautiful new Social Center, the "GYM." Stockton Hall, the new law school, brought approximately one thousand new and interesting men within the range of the co-eds on "Gee" Street. It was a hard blow to the egotistical lads from Columbian College to have to meet professional competition.

Besides the new interesting ones, "Snooks Leeby, George Bonebrake, Foster Hagen, Caroline West and Marguerite Daly" appeared once more upon the scene for more conquests.

On December 4th, again in the "Social Center" was held the annual fall open event social classic, the Football Hop. The Team prepared for the struggle by having a substantial dinner at the Lafayette Hotel, at which time Henry Sapp (not Cicero) was elected captain for 1926, and Burch Tennyson manager for the year coming. The proceeds of this well-patronized dance were used for gym equipment, so they said. We have been wondering how dramatics got the curtains.

Hundreds of faculty members, students and friends of the University gathered at the Washington Club on December 11th to meet President and Mrs. William Mather Lewis at the reception given in their honor by Columbian Women.

Christmas arrived on time, much as has been its custom, and those who had families, friends or Fraternity brothers to visit, did so with as little delay as possible. The rest of us stayed here and made the best of it, the Sigma Nu's and Sigma Chi's making Wardman Park Hotel their headquarters toward the end of the Xmas season.

Exams came and went, Virginia Blackistone pulling down the unusual "A's" and,—well you know—the usual E's and F's. We managed to get by, hope you did the same.

Then, to forestall any remote possibility of starting the semester with study, came rushing—three weeks of it—with the girls smiling some of the time, suspicious most of the time, and sleepy all of the time.

The confidence ladies from Pi Phi and Phi Mu watched the taxis and private appearing drive-em-yourself cars like vultures waiting for prey. The Chi O's, Sigma Kappa's and Kappa Delta's watched the 72-passenger Brill Specials.

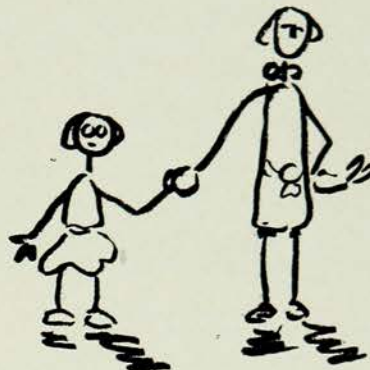

The Gamma Beta Pi's, A. D. Pi's and Delta Zeta's hung around the Cafeteria for all Freshmen get hungry at times.

The rest of them haunted the doorways and the library.

February 21st ushered in Junior Week with the second annual Rotating Tea. Everybody went the rounds on the different Fraternities, in a vain endeavor to get a square meal. If anybody succeeded we haven't heard about it. We have heard various conjectures as to why the Kappa Sig house was so popular after the tea.

Monday's program was a crowded one. In the afternoon Midwinter Convocation took place at Memorial Continental Hall. Afterwards the Junior Reception was held in Concoran Hall in honor of President and Mrs. Lewis, and members of the faculty. As all students of the University were invited (gratis) the room was considerably more than comfortably filled. "The Razzberry,"

Wednesday evening the Junior Play, "Belinda," was presented before a large and appreciative audience. Annabelle Lloyd, Smith Brookhart and Loren Disney deserve great commendation along with the rest of the cast. Dramatics has won its place in the University as well as possession of the gym.

The Junior Prom was held at the New Willard on Friday night. The orchestra, supposedly one of Washington's best, had evidently been playing for "Marathon Dances," as it played only eight dances in four hours. The Prom Committee seemed to feel that it had no responsibility in the matter of requesting shorter dances. The pictures taken that night show a number of G. W.'s socially inclined students snapped in unguarded moments. Appearances are often deceiving and Margaret McAllister on the front row may have been having a good time. For those who do not know the two on the window sill—well that's Jeanne and Doug. Confidentially, "Grace was still Toy-ing with Dick."

The Press was not well represented because of a sudden desire for free advertising. If the "Hatchet" got in we would like to know how they secured the waiter's jobs. The Prom was a social success.

The final event of the week was the Basket-Ball Game between the Women's Varsity Team and the University of Pittsburgh. It was a good game in spite of the fact that our team missed the victory by two points. Afterwards an attractive buffet supper was served to both teams in the "Chi O" rooms.

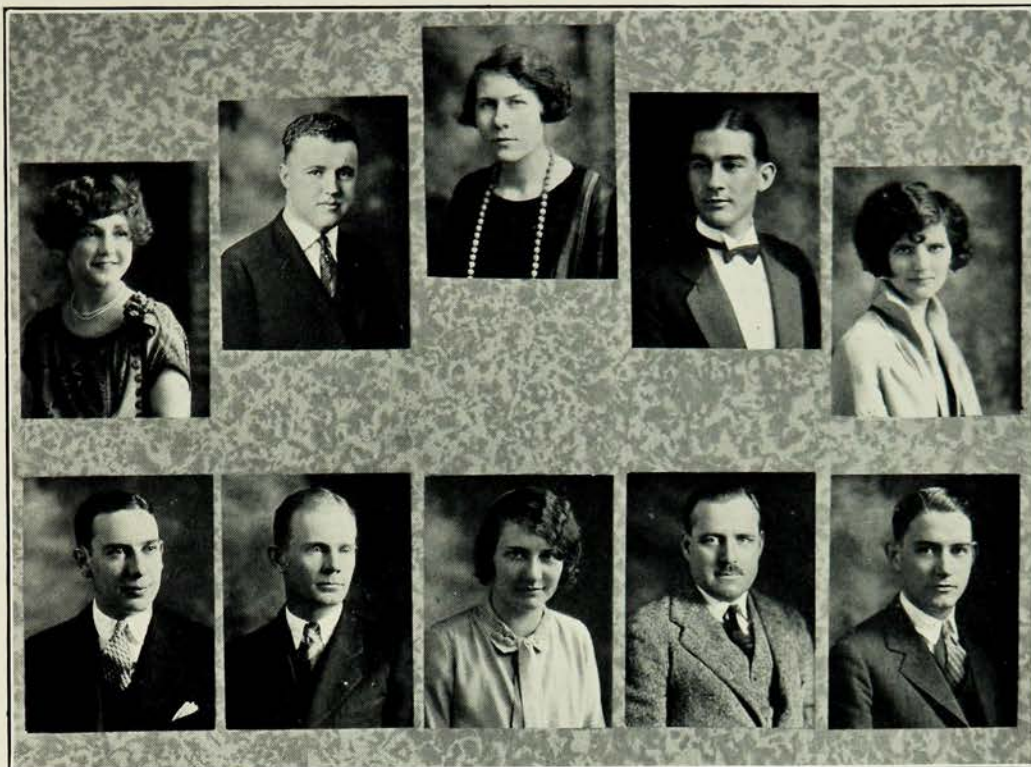

The Interfraternity Prom was held at the New Willard Hotel, the men again showing the girls how a real dance can be run. This was March 19th. Two musical numbers from "Just a Kiss" were played and Sterry strutted his stuff in presenting the "Cups" to Theter Urpsilon Omayger and the others. But it was a huge success never-the-less and Doug Beatie deserves more than a small share of credit.

Not to be outdone by the gentlemen Greeks, the ladies from Athens gave their Panhellenic Prom on April 23d. One of the outstanding features of the evening was the appearance of the "Petticoat," the contemporary of the "Razzberry." But as usual the hokum was as old as the name of the sheet. We could offer several attractive yet very brief up-to-date names, but of course even journalism has limits.

Senior Week was filled with many important events—not excluding those who did not graduate. We had the best time on the trip to Mount Vernon, the Senior's annual pilgrimage. However, Class Day and the Senior Prom remain as close seconds in an enjoyable week.

Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee Club started the season with a concert in Corcoran Hall the fall of 1925 with numbers by the Club, the "Ever-Ready Group," and solo numbers. The quartette entertained the veterans at Mt. Alto with several selections. The "Ever-Ready Group" has visited a number of churches, among them, Foundry Methodist, Epworth Methodist, Church of the Ascension, Church of the Covenant. A concert was given at Foundry Church and Calvary Baptist. The week of February 22d, the entire Club sang at the Rialto costumed in Martha Washington attire. The Club also worked on an operetta, "The Japanese Girl."

ALUMNI UNITED FOR COMMON INTEREST

By the Alumni President

After several years of effort plans have been worked out for the admission to membership in the General Alumni Association of those members of the George Washington Medical School Association and the Columbian-George Washington Law School Association who have not already joined the General Alumni Association. Under this plan each Association retains its identity and its independence but the members brought in under the new plan will receive all notices of alumni activities and will be accorded that most important of all alumni privileges, and one which they have not hitherto enjoyed, namely, the right to vote in the selection of alumni trustees for the University. Two alumni trustees are selected annually for the terms of three years, so that the alumni are represented upon the Board by six trustees of their own selection.

We extend a welcoming hand to those members who have come to us through these plans of affiliation and we see in our united efforts greater efficiency in the advancement of the interests of our University.

Features

Now Listen Rudyard Kipling

Now listen, Rudyard Kipling,
You've not a thing on me.
Since I was but a stripling
Upon my mother's knee
I've had my share of women
In this and that respect.
I've taken now a trimmin'
And now a peach I've necked.
The first learned what I taught her,
The second was from Chi,
She was just a farmer's daughter
But that baby knew her rye.
One was in the chorus
Of a big New York revue,
The next, her name was Doris,
Could make a hole in two.
There was little Shady Sadie,
And Nellie, little crook,
Neither was a lady
But, baby, they could cook.
Oh, I've seen 'em off and on
From San Antone to Maine,
From those that say, "I'll swan,"
To the expert on the train.
And until I came to college
I thought I knew it all,
But, Rud, I gained the knowledge
That my all was pretty small.
First I met a wild Chi O,
The kind you read about.
I said, "Let's go," she said, "My, no,
My mother won't allow it."
Then came a Sigma Kappa.
She read me verse and such,
But she found she couldn't trap a
Guy like me, not much.
A Delta Zeta cornered me

But I got me gone in time.
A Phi Mu took me on a spree,
Fed me milk and rhyme.
An A. D. Pi, a Kappa Delt,
A Gamma Bete and Zeta Tau,
You can't imagine how I felt,
My nerves were taut and raw.
I tried my best to break away,
I nearly left the school,
Then a Pi Phi woman came my way,
Oh, wasn't I a fool?
We got on well enough,
She was very pretty,
I didn't try to treat her rough,
I didn't, more's the pity.
We went about a day or two,
I thought I'd found someone
Who knew a thing or two,
The worst was yet to come.
Then finally we went out
In a taxi to a dance,
And having banished every doubt,
I thought I'd take a chance.
So slowly, surely stole my arm
About her shoulders bare,
Now tell me, Rudyard, is there harm
In kissing of the hair?
And so I touched her little cheek
And asked most tenderly
If my lips her lips might seek,
And she said, "Oh, no,
You've done enough for me."

L'ENVOI

And you say you know of women,
Ask me to learn from you;
But 'til you've met a co-ed, Rud,
I've a long head start on you.

Fairy Tales

Once upon a time a G. W. co-ed turned down a bid to the Interfraternity Prom.
Once upon a time a G. W. man confessed he had never been to Childs'.
Once upon a time Quigleys gave away Coca-Colas.
Once upon a time a Pi Phi passed up a date with a Marmon to take a walk in the park.
Once upon a time Dean Ruediger said, "So's your old man."
Once upon a time college grads were educated. (Note: They still are if they meet the right girl.)
Once upon a time a college man asked, "What is a touchdown?"

The Campus Day By Day

(With apologies to O. O. McIntyre.)

The campus fence sagging under the weight of tired students. Why must people always lean against things? Prof. Doyle in a hurry as usual. Looking for something to do. Steve Carey surrounded by co-eds laughing and babbling. The Presidency of the Junior Class seems worth the trouble. Dean Wilbur with the ever-present twinkle in his eyes is an institution. There's Marguerite Daly looking wise. Sapp is the story book type of football captain. Hope they don't tear down Lisner Hall. What will we do without that fence? Pres. Lewis in his Chrysler car chasing the elusive million. When he gets it Corcoran Hall will have an addition. The new Freshmen girls strolling here and there like lost sheep. Soon they'll be herded together and singled out by the various sororities. Why don't the latter have houses instead of rooms? That's another dream of the future. So is Fraternity Row. Mildred Thrasher with no books going to Stockton Hall. Dean Ruediger in his ancient automobile looking for a place to park. If you've never taken his Logic you've missed something. Elmer Louis Kayser, the only professor ever mistaken for a student, smiling his way through a crowd of co-eds. The S. A. E. Freshmen with their green ties. Why do green ties always look so grotesque? Grace Harris strolling with a male person. Who is he and what has happened to Dick? Dot Bartley coming out of the library frowning. She's to be married soon to a Naval officer. The back campus is torn up for the jumpers of the track team. Isn't it strange how Tom Probey's name seems to fit him like an old shoe? Maud Crum rounding up his charges for spring football practice. Why aren't football players the social lions here that they are in other universities? Dean Rose leading a contingent bearing dishes, pitchers and what not to one of her inevitable teas. What do they do at those affairs, anyway? Ellen Buell and Dottie Latimer headed for Quigley's again. Serious looking men with stuffy brief cases speeding to classes. Where do they come from and who are they? Twelve Chi Omegas in one bunch over by the tree discussing their new motto—"Bigger and Better Goats." There's Betty Bradford surrounded by men outdoing each other for her favor. Yes, she's been in school four years. Wade Becker with Louise Braswell headed for Quigley's where they meet up with Caroline West. He has his name in the society column of The Hatchet more than any other man in school. Someone said Henry Zuberano hated to leave but we wonder if he is sorry that he is in Pago-Pago in the Samoan Islands for two years to come. It must be rather lonely in the South Seas at night with only one's thoughts for companions? Betty Jaquet and Gene Houghton arm in arm planning for the wedding. Why not a double wedding with Bob Billheimer and Marcella McCormack as parties of the other part? Here come the three Horsemen, Baker, Smith and Anderson, without a glance to right or left. Smith is out of step. Tennyson running about excitedly as becomes the chairman of the Junior Prom. Jeanne Gravatte talking with her hands with Doug walking on ahead with serene indifference. Lester Johnson upon a political mission.

No wonder Ruth Newburn's a good debater, she practices all the time. Frances Walker must be reading "Hatrack," we see no other reason for staying by herself over by building 4. We understand the Pi Phi's got the last copy in the City. Guy Hottel wears Kuppenheimer clothes. Colin McRae and Babe White with the spavin from walking the cement campus—giving the girls a treat. Daniel Boone passes by again, with Don Sickler, the boy who made a big hit with himself. There goes Ellen Buell, did someone say she was writing now for "True Confessions"? Those serious men with brief cases rushing the back way to law school. Eds and co-eds without brief cases ambling comfortably toward Corcoran Hall. The last bell. One solitary being on the campus fence, it looks just like any other square now. Loud laughter floats out of the window of Building 6. Prof. Henning has met his French class. Virginia Eiker breezing along for all the world as if she was ten minutes early. Dr. Hrdlicka pronounced her the perfect American girl. Wonder if Virginia can pronounce Hrdlicka. Stillness now, the street lights go up and cast a dreary glow about that fence. We drift on.

Cherry Tree Shorts

It is reported that owing to the shortage of gray matter on the George Washington campus the new building unit will be painted green. We submit that if the latter color is chosen the building should be reserved for freshmen, assistant profs and dramatic critics.

George Washington "made" the "Americana" department of American Mercury in the March issue. Thus do our fame spread even though it be via the gentle means of sarcasm.

There was great argument this current year among the ladies amalgamated societies for the reduction of the genus male, jocosely referred to as sororities, anent the present flower and ribbon pledging system. 'Tis said that some held out for handcuffs.

Jack Hayes has been seen of late at Chevy Chase Country Club with a charming "deb" of the season. Grace Harris, Helen Hall, Nan Darton, Betty Corl, Mary Shoemaker, Helen Aiken and the rest of the "Lost Battalion" please note.

HOW IT WORKS

1. Stude buys a pint of gin.
2. Drinks same.
3. Ten at the house, eleven at the church.

Spark Gilbert and Perry Gard have transferred to Medical School to study anatomy.

They got the practice first on G Street and now are mastering the theory.

Paul Horney: "Will you love me?"

Dot Bartley: "But I'm already engaged."

Paul: "Who said anything about an engagement?"

The Enosinians packed the house when Prof. Bolwell spoke on "The World's Worst

G. W. U.

Poetry." One way to get a college student to study anything is to tell him it's not worth studying.

A disturbance resembling in its proportions the second battle of the Marne was heard on N Street one night. 'Twas only Hell Week at the Sigma Nu house.

Tennyson: "Do you know why McCrea doesn't wear rubbers?"

Buckley: "No, why?"

Tennyson: "Because they give a little."

After numerous perusals of the society column of the noble Hatchet one wonders whether this is a University or a matrimonial agency.

Steve Carey: "Why didn't you come to the Prom?"

Raymie Johnson: "My rib was broke."

Steve: "Which one?"

Raymie: "The brunette from National Park."

Mary Temple Hill arrived on the campus one day complaining of "that tired feeling." When asked what the reason was she informed us that she had slept three in a bed the night before. Now when pressed for explanation she said, "Draw your own conclusions." We wish to state that we did that and the Editors would not allow the cartoon to be printed.

In the future all rehearsals of comedy dramas will be presided over by Prof. Collier of Law School in conjunction with his regular class in Torts.

It was a clever person who invented the term "rushing," as any of this year's Freshman girls will testify.

His Girl: "You promised that you would not drink again."

Sigma Chi: "Quite right, my dear, I'm just adding to the last one."

Father: "Helen, you should go to church this evening, the subject is 'An Hour With Favorite Hymns.'"

Helen G.: "I'd like to, father, but I have an engagement this evening with mine."

G. W. FRATERNITIES PRO AND CON

(Written after systematic imbibing and no harm meant)

Having had innumerable glasses of sparkling amber fluid, the name of which I am not at liberty to divulge under penalty of the law, I herewith submit the following:

Fraternities, like liquor, are all right if you can take them or let them alone, but this can't be done. You take for instance the Sigma Chi's, nobody can let them alone. Doug Beatie told me so himself, said everyone was always picking on them. So there you are.

MY IDEAL GIRL

There's the girl of the magazine cover
Who shines with a radiant glow,
There's the girl of the tabloid papers
With shapely form to show.
There's the girl of the "Screenland" book
A creature of heavenly charm,
There's the girl of the Coca Cola
A pekinese pup on her arm.
There's the girl of the hosiery ad
With face and form divine,
There's the girl of the fashion review
With beauty in every line.
There's the girl of the Christy pictures
The girl of Coles Phillips' fame,
Each of these girls is a vision,
None of these girls is the same.
But all of these girls are on paper,
Not one have I ever seen,
So when I search for my ideal girl
I look in a magazine.

THE MORNING AFTER THE PROM.

- 10:21—The young man awakes on the window-sill of a strange apartment in Chevy Chase.
10:22—Discovers one Derby, one felt hat and one very collegiate cap reposing on his head accompanied by a splitting headache and a split lip.
10:50—Dresses—slowly and far from surely.
10:55—Returns floor lamp to Fraternity house.
11:00—Cashes a check.
11:02—Diplomatically refrains from eating at Childs.
11:04—Orders light meal at Thompson's.
11:07—Collapses.
11:10—Returns to Fraternity house for other glove and finds notice from office that he has over-cut in four classes.
11:15—Cuts another, making it unanimous.
11:17—Buys a Bromo-Seltzer.
11:19—Discovers vanity case and lip stick in pocket and remembers to ring the frail.
11:21—Does that. Makes luncheon date for twelve-thirty.
11:22—Remembers Lit. exam on Monday. Wonders if Ivanhoe wrote Keats.
11:24—Wanders dazedly across street and is hit simultaneously by a street car, an automobile and a Studebaker.
11:25—The End of a Perfect Day.

HOW TO ORGANIZE A FRATERNITY

(By one who knows nothing about it.)

Now here's what they do, see? Six or seven of 'em or maybe it's more or less, whatsa difference, I say? Well, some of 'em gets together, guys, I mean, see, and one of 'em or maybe all of 'em gets the idea, sure they have ideas, anyways somebody or bodies gets the notion they're goin' to have a place or somethin' where they can meet an' sing songs or play 'em or whatever they want, see? And then maybe they decide to ast somebody else, guys, of course, or more to come with 'em or somethin' like that, anyways before you know it there's a bunch of 'em there and what are ya gonna do about it? So then they buy, or rent, or borrow, leastways they have a house in some place where the rest of the people is respectable or decent, anyways the police don't bother 'em or nothin', the people, not the fraternity guys, I mean. Then one day one of 'em gets a dishpan or somethin' an' makes a shield or plaque or anyways there it is and that's that. An' they write stuff on it like "Sic Semper Fiddlesticks" and "Me and God and the Fair Sex," and such. An' then they get a restaurant guy, most of the time he's a Greek or somethin' 'cause fraternity guys an' restaurant guys is the only Greeks they is any more, an' they get this guy to write a lot of stuff an' then before you know it or anybody else, they got a name an' a motto an' all that so then ya can't stop 'em at all, see? Then they get a bozo to give 'em some furniture or somethin' like that maybe an' a banjo and somebody to play it and a piano an' a flag or banner or somethin' an' they have a party an' there ya are all unprepared an' everythin' with a fraternity starin' ya in the face. Ain't it simple?

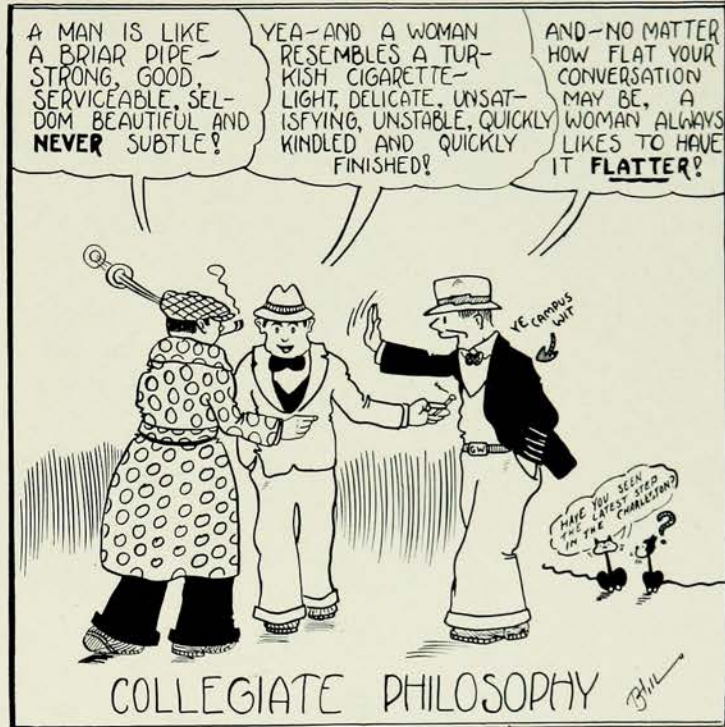

Bob Harper: "I'm taking the new wench out to dinner to-night."

Wade Becker: "Have you made your reservations?"

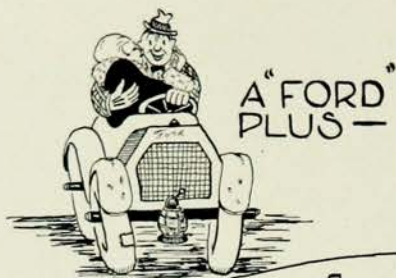

Bob: "Oh, yes, I have two slots reserved at the Automat."

The following is a true story and can be corroborated by a prominent member of the Racquet Club. It seems that the gentleman in question entered the Club on the evening of the S. A. E. Founder's Day banquet and seeing the crowd of young men in Tuxedos asked the head waiter what the event was. The latter said, "Oh, it's some society that ends with Epinard. You know, sir, just like the French horse."

French Line, Cunard or White Star
And a first-class cabin for me,
And may there be no closing of the bar
When I put out to sea.

DEDICATED TO CHI OMEGA SORORITY

He: "Do you smoke?"
 She: "No."
 He: "Pet?"
 She: "No!"
 He: "Drink?"
 She: "No! !"
 He: "Charleston?"
 She: "No! ! !"
 He: "Woman, you lied to me. You've never been to college."

A certain professor, and we won't say whether or not he is at George Washington, in his early days, used to set type on a small town newspaper and the result was a number of typographical errors and misplaced paragraphs. One day it was found that under "Ministers and Churches" came the announcement that Lillian Russell would wear tights that winter. When this came to the attention of the Editor, that personage, in high disgust, wrote on the margin "Such is life."

The next day the paper contained the following:

MINISTERS AND CHURCHES

Lillian Russell will wear tights this winter. Such is life.

(IF)

If you can keep your hair when all about you
 Are bobbing theirs and showing it to you,
 If you can let the movies go without you
 And not aspire to act as others do,
 If you can be a vamp and yet not show it
 Or do the things they say all vampires do,
 If you can love and yet not let them know it,
 And still be sweet and show affection, too—

If you've a date downstairs, if you can hurry
 (The taxi's there), if you can be on time,
 If you can save the man a little worry—
 For every primp you take he pays a dime,
 If you're asked to have some rare confection
 Which is, perhaps, beyond your lover's means,

If you can gain his absolute affection
 By simply saying, "No, I'll just have beans."

If you can pass Lucile's where they are showing
 A gown, which you imagine would be great

To have, if you can go to Macy's knowing
 You'll get the same for seven-ninety-eight,
 If you can use your make-up so discreetly
 That people will not turn around to stare,
 And wear your clothes not gaudily but neatly—
 Instead of showing, let them guess what's there—

If you can hear a story, rich and breezy
 And not enthuse too much, yet not turn pink
 Not get excited, but just take it easy—
 Perhaps the meaning's different than you think—

If you can tell the good thing when you've found it,

If you can tell the pebble from the pearl,
 Yours is the world, complete with fence
 around it—

And what is more—you'll get a man, my girl.

WHAT PRICE INTELLIGENCE?

There is a certain co-ed in George Washington University who has the most fully developed vacancy in the region of her thought-producing apparatus that it has been my ill fortune to find in this country or abroad. If she went to the dentist I am confident he would refuse to give her ether on the ground that he would be unable to tell when she lost consciousness. She asked me once if the moon was really made of green cheese and upon being told that it was not she laughed and said I was such a wit.

Her vocabulary consists of such enlightening phrases as "Oh, really," "Dear me," "Is zat so?" "I'm just wild about dancing," "How adorable," "You shouldn't have done it, really," and "I'd love to go—with you." These with a few others of the kind sprinkled with a monosyllable or two for the sake of variety serve the purpose splendidly.

She has been known to make all of the dumb cracks attributed to her ilk by every humorist in the country, such as asking why the fouls in a basket-ball game don't have feathers, why they're not arrested for stealing bases in a baseball game, why that nasty man fell right down in front of the good-looking fellow on the football field and what is the price of glory?

She always orders chicken salad and thinks handsome movie actors, college profs and prep school boys are so cute.

RUM RUNNING IN WASHINGTON

Oh for the life a rum running king
Sixteen carloads a day to bring,
Driving a Packard or Cadillac
Running it in, but alas and alack
I am not as the gods of old
Handsome and strong, valiant and bold
I am a man of meager powers
Working and slaving thru dreary hours.
I could never rise to occasions
Fighting and suffering skin abrasions.
Oh, I could not a rum runner be
The pace would be too much for me.
How do I know that I must be these Handsome and brave and bruise with ease
Romantically dealing in murders and crimes?
I read of it, sir, in the Washington Times.

GOO

I know a maiden fair,
I tracked her to her lair,
I said I loved her charming smile,
I swore she'd won me with her style.
I adored her lips, her mouth, her eyes
That gleamed like pools in Paradise.
I threw myself upon my knees,
I murmured "Won't you love me please?"
She looked at me and then she giggled,
I looked at her and then I wiggled.
Then she dealt the fatal blow,
I'll ne'er recover that I know.
For I had been in deadly earnest
But from experience thou learnest
That never with a dame imperious
Is it wise to wax so serious.
For what she said when I was through:
"Does 'oo weally want me to?"

THE TRUTH

Are you the first man to ask me for a kiss?
The truth about it
Is that you are the first to ask me this—
You say you doubt it?
Have I been out with others? I should smile—
In fact, I book them—
And yet you are the first—you asked me, while
The others took them.

REFLECTIONS

The happiest days of all my life I spent in the arms of another man's wife, My Mother.

"My mistake", said Dr. Borden, as Crombie hobbled across the street with one crooked leg.

Every time Eva Fridel blushes, she scorches the paint.

If Plato could shimmy, could Aristotle.

Tennis was first played thousands of years ago, the Bible tells us that Joseph served in Pharoah's court.

Alice Ranek will now sing that little ballad entitled, "Put away your tweasers, till your eye brows meet again."

Daniel Boone while in a telephone booth, was heard to ask the operator for Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

"Are you laughing at me"? demanded Prof. Doyle of his class.

"No Sir," came the reply in chorus.

"Well," he asked, "What else is there to laugh at?"

Betty Armentrout to Howard Rutenber: "Hello, where have you been"?

Rutt: "To visit my folks in Jamestown."

She: "How did you find them"?

Rutt: "Easy, I knew where they lived."

A co-ed will buy anything she thinks a store is losing money on.

Prof: "Are you familiar with Chaucer?"

Evelyn Fletcher (indignantly): "I should say not, nor any other man."

Prof. Erwin, in trig class: "Will you please stand on the other side of your figure?"

Always get a high crib for the baby so you hear him when he falls out.

She: "Bert Law is a Fraternity man."

Another She: "How do you know?"

First She: "He answered to four names in class."

We beg to announce Howard Shaw's marriage effective two years ago. As we understand it Mrs. Shaw is still at G. W. under her maiden name.

In July, 1924, Evelyn Fletcher had just returned from a long camping trip. A certain young man asked her to elope and according to our information she was agreeable except she "did not have any clean 'cute things' to wear." THE CHERRY TREE predicts that she will be asked to elope again in July of this year.

Homewood Colonial Bricks

Sand finished, Soft Mud, of texture and quality of formerly hand-made bricks.

These bricks have the widest color range, skillfully blended, giving an exquisite effect, perfectly normal and architecturally correct.

SOUND INVESTMENTS

FOR twenty-five years Wardman issues of first mortgage bonds and notes have sold at par and better. More than One Hundred Millions of Dollars furnished by the investing public is a striking testimonial of the quality of these securities.

Our Colonial Room . . .

- for Misses' frocks
- a happy inspiration.
- the spirit of youth
- of the nation when young!

This room located upon the third floor of our new building, is an exact duplicate of the great Assembly room of the old City Tavern in Alexandria, Va., now on exhibition in the American wing of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City.

It is with great pleasure that an invitation is extended to the pupils of this school to visit this room.

IN setting the type, printing, and binding this book, our object was not to see how quickly and cheaply we could produce the publication, but how well it could be done.

Our whole aim in this, as in all our work, is to give the greatest attention to all the details, and produce printing that will be a credit to the institutions from which the publications are issued. Our books will be just as good in the many years to come, when an annual is of greatest value, as they are to-day.
